

FOR inventory managers

WHO need to manage items with different qualities

The Sleuth is an online web service

That allows for

Unlike

Our product can utilize user created templates to create more customizable items.

For companies and home businesses that sell physical products who need a simple, dynamic, scalable, and cost-effective solution to inventory management. Sleuth is a web-based inventory management system that provides a simple, yet highly adaptable and customizable interface that allows for easy and fast integration into an preexisting business. Unlike Flowtrac, Fishbowl, and inFlow, our product provides a simple interface with easy customization that allows for easy integration into a business that may not have time or resources to train its employees to use a complex system.